Cheyenne Curtis is a Canadian born, LA-based artist who specializes in storyboarding, designing, and creating/selling original content for animation.

She has worked for nearly 10 years in the industry and has sold multiple shows to animation studios. She currently is developing an original show with Disney Television Animation.

Cheyenne is passionate about telling honest, inclusive and unique stories matched with a keen eye for contemporary design that resonates with today's audience. Along with her excitement to create and sell content in the US, her international background opens up doors to collaborate with a wide variety of studios.

Cheyenne is currently represented by her agents Julie Kane-Ritsch and Matt Shichtman at The Gotham Group.
